

Battle Field

"The game board is your battlefield. You have an army of men at your disposal and a few bombs."

Your mission: Protect your flag and capture your opponent's flag.

Secretly place your men, bombs, and flag on the game board with these objectives in mind. But remember your opponent is doing the same thing, so you must plan a defense as well as an offense.

Once the armies are in place, advance your men. When you are one space away from an enemy, you may attack the enemy; you and your opponent declare ranks for each man in the army. The lower-ranking man is captured and is out of play.

You control your pieces and risk your men in battles where the strength of your enemy is unknown. The suspense builds as your men move deeper into enemy territory. Move with caution and courage. The next piece you attack could be a bomb. And when attacked, it could "blast" your man off the board and out of play."

"The first to capture the enemy flag or preventing the enemy from making any further moves is the winner!"